The article is devoted to one of the fathers of oil and gas geology, founder of gas industry in Russia I.N. Strizhov, who like hundreds of other scientists, was subjected to repression. In this article his work during the time in prison and after release is characterized. New documents about his inventions are introduced into the scientific circles now, and they are on the permanent storage in the department of Russian state archives of scientific and technical documentation in Samara.

Статья посвящена одному из основоположников геологии нефти и газа, основателю газовой промышленности России И.Н. Стрижову, который, как и сотни других ученых прошел через машину сталинских репрессий.
